

Hilti Art Foundation opens new exhibition entitled

Epidermis – Conditio humana – Cosmos

from 1 November 2019 until 11 October 2020

Epidermis – Conditio humana – Cosmos is the fifth presentation of works from the collection of the Hilti Art Foundation at Kunstmuseum Liechtenstein since opening its exhibition building in May 2015. Kicking off on 1 November, the show focuses on human beings, their environment and nature.

Visitors can look forward to seeing thirty-three paintings, sculptures, photographs and other pictorial works that revolve around the themes Epidermis, Conditio humana and Cosmos in what is an epoch-spanning display.

In the first room attention is on the epidermis, the surfaces—i.e. the skin—of artworks consisting of a wide range of materials including wax, cement, canvas, plastic and photographic paper. In the next room, headed Conditio humana, paintings and sculptures from the classical modern period spotlight the circumstances of life as conditions of human existence. The third floor looks at the theme Cosmos as a consideration and artistic interpretation of the world with regard to natural and abstract orders.

Art enthusiasts will be able to see works by the following artists in this new show put together by curator Uwe Wiczorek: Josef Albers, Max Beckmann, Rudolf Belling, Dadamaino, Lucio Fontana, Alberto Giacometti, Julio González, Gotthard Graubner, Ferdinand Hodler, Stéphane Kropf, Wilhelm Lehmbruck, Joan Miró, Konrad Klapheck, Paul Klee, Hanns Kunitzberger, Piero Manzoni, Pablo Picasso, Otto Piene, Gerhard Richter, Medardo Rosso, Georges Seurat, Giovanni Di Stefano, Thomas Struth, Frank Thiel, Friedrich Vordemberge-Gildewart. Each of these artists is represented with at least one work.
